"Acting Can Be Murder" synopsis

Dolores Gordon, who loves the stage, has always dreamed of stardom. But the only role she ever seems to land is that of the lowly understudy. So she decides the only way she is going to land the lead role in an upcoming community theatre production is to murder the lead actress, Guinevere Black. And that is exactly what she does. To make the murder more fun, Dolores hides Guinevere's body in a large wooden trunk that is used as the centerpiece of the production's murder-mystery set.

But Dolores' thrills soon turn to chills when she begins to observe strange things going on among the production's suspicious and dysfunctional cast members. They seem to know something she doesn't. Out of mere nervousness, Dolores decides to open the chest in an effort to make certain her victim hasn't disappeared; that's when her worst nightmare is realized: Guinevere's body is indeed gone. But who took it? Which cast member is on to her horrific crime? And is that Guinevere herself peering through the French doors of the set when no one but Dolores is looking? Find out the answers when you read this murder-mystery comedy that spoofs Agatha Christie and Alfred Hitchcock all in one keep-you-guessing backstage comedy.

Director's Notes:

I would like to thank members of the faculty, administration, and the cast and crew of this production. It requires the efforts of so many to make this show possible. I appreciate all they have done despite the many challenges we've faced to make this a fun & entertaining night for our audience. To turn a 14 member cast play into a show featuring 31 cast members required some creativity and several prayers; but in the end, with God's help, we ended with the finished product you see tonight. While it is always difficult to say goodbye to my Seniors, I am thrilled at the amount of underclassmen involvement. This is an exciting sign that shows the continued strength, enthusiasm and growth of the Bishop Garrigan Drama Department of which I am blessed to be a part of. ~ Carol Eischeid
